Fix The Crossings

The village board is finally taking some action on the conditions of the grade crossings of the Soo Line in the Village.

We applaud the action.

It seems to us that something more permanent in the way of repairs can be made on the crossing other than the usual black-top packing put down.

We realize the railroad has to keep running and it is a fact of life that it runs through our town although the benefits are kind of hard to find.

We would hope, however, that the railroad would think it also has a duty to maintain its crossings so that residents' autos, and the cars of those passing through, do not end up in the repair shop because of its poor housekeeping.

We don't believe that the village is demanding too much of the line to keep its crossings intact.

It is just too bad that we have to go to the Illinois Commerce Commission to get the thing done instead of calling the line and reminding it that it also has an obligation.

But, apparently, contacting the line falls on deaf ears.

It is inconvenient enough to be held up for the passing train without the added insult of inspecting a broken axle or blown tire on the auto once you do get across.

We wish the village fathers well in their pursuit of suitable maintenance of the crossings but we don't think, really that such petitions are very successful.

A new patchwork will probably be put in.

But this will disappear within a few weeks and then the merry-go-round will start over again.

Come To The Fair

We don't know about you — but we like County Fairs.

And it is almost fair time again.

The Lake County 4-H Show and annual County Fair will be held at the Lake County fairgrounds on Rte. 45 outside Grayslake from July 29 through Aug. 2.

This year the fair promises to be one of the finest shows ever put together with over 3,000 exhibits entered by 1,458 4-Hers.

There will be many exhibits outside of the 4-H building, including the latest in farm equipment, and many other useful items.

Those who like farm animals can gaze to their heart's content on the cattle, pigs (we don't like the word swine) and sheep, as well as attend the auction of the champions.

There will be special entertainment including a rodeo, a clown band, three nights of fireworks, flower and garden shows, sheep blocking and trimming and western horse show.

All in all the fair is expected to be one of the best this area has ever seen.

We hope to see you there.

Your Congressman Reports...

By Cong. Robert McClory

When the 91st Congress will adjourn is anybody's guess.

The predicted Labor Day adjournment date which was made last January by Senate Majority Leader Mansfield was abandoned promptly when the Senate devoted six weeks to debate the so-called Cooper-Church Amendment to the Military Sales Act. The present speculation is that the Congress may stay in session throughout 1970, with a possible holiday break around Labor Day and a brief pre-election recess during the last two weeks of October. Indeed, it is possible that the Second Session of the 91st Congress may establish a record for longevity, with the possibility that the session will not adjourn until it "expires" with the commencement of the 92nd Congress in January 1971.

Historically, Congressional sessions have varied in length from a few weeks to a full year, with the trend in recent years toward lengthier sessions. During 3 of the last 4 Congresses, sessions were extended well into the month of December, with the first session of the 88th Congress closing down on December 30, 1963.

Under the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946, the Congress is required to adjourn sine die (final adjournment) not later than the last day in the month of July, "except in time of war or national emergency proclaimed by the President." However, this adjournment date has been met only twice during the past 24 years (1952 and 1956). The basis for declining to adjourn has been a ruling by the Speakers of the House of Representatives that President Truman's proclamation of a state of national emergency in connection with the Korean War is still technically in effect and supercedes the July 31st deadline.

In addition to the technicalities that impede early adjournment, the Congressional Calendar discloses that very few of the essential legislative proposals have yet received final Congressional action. House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford reported recently that only two of the 63 proposals recommended by President Nixon have been signed into law. The remaining 61 are still on the agendas of the House or Senate. Among the bills awaiting final action are measures 1) to curb drug traffic, 2) to fight organized crime, 3) to strengthen equal employment opportunity, 4) to reform the postal system, 5) to provide aid for mass-transit system, in the cities, 6) to reform our welfare programs, 7) to aid in the fight against air and water pollution, 8) to reform the electoral college system, 9) to provide a non-voting delegate to the Congress for the District of Columbia, and many other measures.

Even if none of these new legislative proposals were to receive Congressional attention, it would nevertheless be necessary for

Okay Three Judge Candidates Faber Says

Three candidates for Associate Circuit Court Judge of the 19th Judicial Circuit (Lake County) have been recommended in a poll among lawyers on the qualifications of the candidates. The results of the poll were announced by Arthur T. Lennon, Chairman of the Illinois State Bar Association's Committee on Judicial Advisory Polls.

Republicans Thomas R. Doran, Fred H. Geiger and Peter L. Mellus were recommended for the post sought by the Democrats voting, the Republicans voting and the total lawyers participating in the poll. Democrat John L. Hughes and Republican John J. Kaufman were not recommended by the Democrats or the Republicans or the total lawyers voting.

A total of 134 lawyers participated in the poll from Lake County. Of those voting 12 were Democrats, 89 Republicans and 33 unaffiliated. Lennon said the purpose of the polls is to "make a conscientious analysis of the qualifications of the candidates as viewed by their own colleagues, who know them best; and to make the results available to the judicial nominating conventions and to the voting public for such use as they may care to make of them."

He said the "comparative ease with which judges may remain in office under the Judicial Article makes it imperative that only able candidates be nominated in the first place." Lennon stressed the point that the vote of "not recommended for judge does not reflect on the ability of the individual as a lawyer, but merely indicates that his colleagues, for various reasons, did not wish to recommend him for the judicial office sought."

Township Officials...

(Continued from page one) portance to all the townships in the state the subject of a bitter partisan dispute. His effect was so great that downstate legislators from his own party abandoned township government, which they formerly supported.

"While the budget and levy bills managed to survive the partisanship, the township collectors bill failed to pass the house of representatives by a single vote," Nimrod noted.

"This failure will have immediate adverse effects on the counties where townships have had local tax collectors — Cook, Will, Peoria, Madison and Sangamon counties.

"The most desirable result will be a 1 1/2 per cent increase in taxes because this is what local township taxing bodies will lose to the respective county general funds.

"Failure of this bill also will deprive the other townships in the state the option of adopting the township collector system after the forthcoming county board reapportionments," Nimrod added.

He added township government should be a non-partisan or bipartisan matter because it provides all the people with services available from no other government economically and efficiently, and because both parties are amply represented among the more than 10,000 township officials in the state.

He announced that the state and various local organizations will re-introduce the township collectors bill when the state legislature reconvenes after the November 3 election.

He'll Stay In Office

"I'll finish my four year term as sheriff of Lake County," Marion G. "Red" Faber, Democratic candidate said today in his first press release (tuned toward his November 3 election contest. His remark was an obvious reference against his political opponent, Republican Orville Clay.

The candidates were rated on the answers to six questions contained in the ballot. The six questions, which could be answered "yes", "no", or "no opinion", are as follows:

1. Has he adequate legal ability? 2. Has he adequate legal experience? 3. Is he courteous and considerate? 4. Would he be deliberate and fair-minded in reaching his conclusions? 5. Would he be industrious and prompt in the performance of judicial duties? 6. Have you confidence in his integrity?

Shorten Pilot Training

Undergraduate pilot training courses in Air Training Command will be shortened from 53 to 48 weeks, July 1. This announcement was made recently by Headquarters U. S. Air Force.

Local Air Force Recruiters are currently seeking young men with a college education to apply for the Air Force flight program. Applications are currently being accepted for pilot, navigator and helicopter pilot.

The major change of the pilot training system will be a decrease in the number of actual flying hours students receive. In the new 48-week course, they will receive 16 hours in the Cessna T-41, 82.5 in the Cessna T-37 and 110 in the Northrop T-38.

At present, students receive 30 flying hours in the T-41, 90 in the T-37 and 120 in the T-38.

Air training Command determined that by placing more emphasis on academic instruction and requiring students to receive more instruction in synthetic trainers, it could produce fully qualified flyers under the new program.

Ten Air Training Command pilot training bases will be affected by this change. They are: Columbus AFB, Miss.; Craig AFB, Ala.; Moody AFB, Ga.; Randolph AFB, Tex.; Laredo AFB, Tex.; Laughlin AFB, Tex.; Webb AFB, Tex.; Reese AFB, Tex.; Vance AFB, Okla.; and Williams AFB, Ariz.

Starting July 1, a flying training program of 188 hours will be conducted at Moody to determine if additional savings can be accomplished without hurting training quality.

Pilots there will be analyzed by the Air Force to determine if further adjustment should be made in flying training programs command-wide.

When fully implemented, the 48-week course is expected to save the Air Force $10 million annually.

"When the people elect a man to hold office for a certain term, I believe that the man has a duty and responsibility, if he is physically able, to hold the office for the entire period to which he was elected," Faber emphasized.

"Otherwise, the candidate is taking advantage of the taxpayers, using them for his own personal or political gain."

Faber also referred to published reports that his political opponent is being considered for a statewide political post in 1972, which would mean that he would abandon another completion of term, if he were elected. "Of course, the people can remedy all that by defeating him in November, and putting him out to pasture, where he belongs, and where he can't take advantage of them any longer," Faber said. "Most of the people I talk to can't understand why a man would want to go to the expense of campaigning for another office while he is in the middle of a term, especially when the office he is seeking pays less than the one that he holds. Well, the people can be comfortable knowing that I am not running for sheriff to use the position as a stepping stone for higher political ambition, and I intend to devote four, full years of dedication to law enforcement."

Faber said that he will eliminate any vestige of politics when he is elected sheriff. "The matter of law enforcement will be handled efficiently by myself and the full complement of deputies, and that will be it; we don't need people with 'clout cards' or 'political hacks' interfering in the operations of the department," Faber said that he intends to build a strong morale on the force by a greater concentration on effective administration of manpower. "When manpower isn't used to its utmost potential, you are shortchanging the taxpayer, and I intend to do everything to create a smooth operating department."

The Democratic sheriff aspirant said that his opponent can shoulder some of the blame for the fact that an outside organization may come in to represent the deputies in bargaining and grievance matters. "He is very able at sounding-off, and some of his uncalled for blasts about how he was going to roll heads and run the department have harmed morale, even long before the election, let alone when the new sheriff takes over the position."

"Law enforcement is the most important service that any unit of government provides, and I intend to do everything I can to give the people the protection that they deserve. I expect to run the office as if every man, woman and child of Lake County were sitting in the Sheriff's chair all at the same time, because that

FROM THE STATEHOUSE

By LT. GOV. PAUL SIMON

Why The Student Unrest?

No problem is more perplexing to the average American citizen than the difficulties on some of our campuses. I will devote two columns to discussing the matter; this one, as to the cause, and the next as to what can be done about it.

Among the causes for the present difficulties are these: When there is violence abroad, there is a tendency for violence at home.

I first noted this as I was writing a paper for the Illinois State Historical Society. In studying riots during the first half of this century, it suddenly struck me that a high percentage of the riots occurred during two short spans of years, during World Wars I and II. Violence abroad encourages violence at home. My guess is that such a trend is accentuated in our day, when we can see violence in living color on our television sets. When the Vietnam war fades, we can expect violence at home to reduce also.

There is a deep-seated—and healthy—desire on the part of students to improve our society.

While it sometimes is expressed in extreme forms, student interest in correcting the ills which plague us in the long run is a major sign of hope for the nation.

The number of students has been growing astronomically, and with growing numbers come growing problems. In the 1960's, for example, more students attended colleges and universities than in the previous entire history of the nation.

Some of the universities may have been growing too rapidly, some may have become too large.

Student resentment is generally much more intense at the large or rapidly growing schools. We must seriously examine the problem of size in our schools, just as we must in our cities.

As universities expanded rapidly, they found a teacher shortage (now no longer here). During this period of teacher shortages, some were put into faculty positions who were not equipped emotionally for such responsibility.

Let me make clear that the huge majority of teachers are responsible citizens of whom we can be proud. But for all people, the rate of emotional growth is not the same, and we have had a few teachers on some campuses who simply have not reached adulthood emotionally.

An excessive stress on the desirability in our culture for a college education has forced some students on campuses who should not be college students.

We need doctors, lawyers, and teachers; but we also need plumbers, electricians and secretaries. Each of us has different aptitudes. To force someone into a mold which does not fit his aptitude is not doing him, nor our society, any service.

There have been a few—both on and off campus—who want to provoke violence.

The numbers are small. Some deny their existence and others exaggerate their numbers. The reality is what must be dealt with and within the framework of our laws.

But we should not fool ourselves into believing that the whole difficulty on our campuses is caused by a small handful. When thousands of students turn out at protest rallies; when students vote to close a school by a decisive majority, then we have problems. Problems which must be dealt with honestly.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The question "What is truth?" has a logical and practical answer according to the Lesson-Sermon on "Truth" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, July 26.

With a Golden Text from Second Corinthians which states: "We can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth." The readings include a verse from Psalms: "For the world of the Lord is right; and all his works are done in truth."

The following passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, also is part of the Lesson-Sermon: "Because Truth is infinite, error should be known as nothing. Because Truth is omnipotent in goodness, error, Truth's opposite, has no might. Evil is but the counterpoint of nothingness. The greatest wrong is but a supposititious opposite of the highest right. The confidence inspired by Science lies in the fact that Truth is real and error is unreal."

Services begin at 11 A.M. at First Church of Christ, Scientist, BEACON HILL, Rte. 173 and Harden, Antioch, Ill., and the public is welcome to attend.

sweeping cathedral train sugared in jewels and worn with a jeweled lace caplet attached to full netting.

The matron of honor was the sister of the bride, Jane Elizabeth Casey and bridesmaids included Miss Donna Haisma, Miss Laura Haisma, Miss Sharon Gordon and Miss Jeanette Gordon.

Best man was Ralph Kerkman of Salem, and ushers included Donald Larson of Antioch and Bethel Larson of Antioch. Organist was Gladys Smalfield.

A reception followed in Fellowship Hall of the church.

Consider the Spoon

The very first craftsmen of silver flatware were the ancient Greeks, who knew a good thing when they saw it! Long before that time, however, our cave-dwelling ancestors used shells to scoop up food.

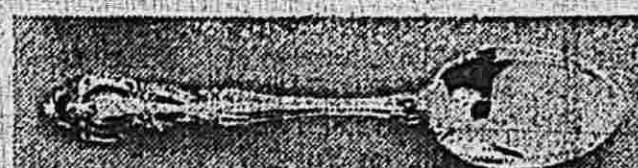

Almost every conceivable material has gone into the making of spoons of all sizes and shapes. American Indians, for instance, used the materials at hand to make this 11th century clay ladle.

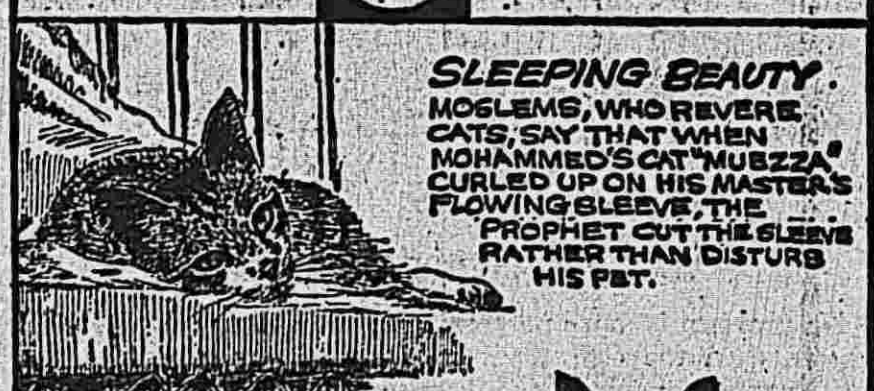

In southern Alaska, hollowed-out wooden spoons were decorated in abstract designs that seem to reflect today's contemporary art.

Natives of the Admiralty Islands made spoons of horns. This one had a handle 18 inches long!

It's been a long step in time from the primitive shell to the lovely and lasting sterling silver spoon of today. Of all materials, solid silver is by far the most beautiful and durable—the rightful heir to centuries of evolution in spoon-making.

Hebron Couple Selected

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Mathison, Greenwood-Road, Hebron, have been selected as the 1970 outstanding young dairy couple of Lake-McHenry District of Associated Milk Producers, Inc. This was announced by Avery A. Vose, Rt. 2, Antioch, the district's representative on the AMPI Tri-State Region board of directors. Mr. Vose is also treasurer of AMPI and the Tri-State Region. Couples are selected on the basis of leadership, personality and interest in dairy farming.

The Tri-State Region of AMPI has 31 districts in Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin and all are in the process of selecting a couple to compete for the title of outstanding young dairy couple of the Tri-State Region in Chicago August 13-14.

The winning couple will represent AMPI as National Young Cooperator delegates at the annual convention of the National Milk Producers Federation in Las Vegas, Nev., Nov. 29-Dec. 3. A runnerup couple will be selected and will also attend the NMPP convention as delegates.

The National Young Cooperators program, in which these couples will participate, is designed to build leadership among young members of dairy farmer cooperatives.

Mathison is 35. He operates a 320-acre dairy farm and maintains a herd of 176 Holsteins. The average number of milking cows in the herd is 75 and milk from the farm is shipped to Borden, Inc. at Woodstock.

Mathison is a member of the McHenry County Farm Bureau and the Midland Cooperative at

SWIMMERS WHO OLD WILLOW

The Antioch Swim team beat Old Willow of Glenview by a score of 163 to 149 at Antioch on July 15.

Entering the last three swimming events Antioch was losing 141 to 136 but the host team finished first and second in both the boys and girls 16 and under butterfly to pull ahead 152 to 142.

Both teams were disqualified in the freestyle relays when the 4th swimmer left the block before the 3rd swimmer finished.

This is Antioch's first year in competitive diving and the team needed a minimum of 6 points out of 18 to preserve the victory.

In the 12 year and under, Susy Berry came through with a second which really put the pressure on the 16 and under divers. Terry Lear and Eddy Berry produced a first and second to win the meet.

Leading point producers for Antioch were Eddy Berry with 16, Judy Berry with 15, Mary Ann Mutaw, Susy Berry and Barb Dodd with 11 and Dave Berry and Pat Muro with 10.

390,000 Benefiting From Food Stamps

Nearly 390,000 persons in all 102 Illinois counties received food assistance through the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Food Stamp Program during May, according to Dennis, M. Doyle, Midwest regional director of Food and Nutrition Service.

The total included 290,914 on public aid and 98,800 other low-income persons.

During May Illinois participants received over $9.4 million worth of food coupons of which more than $5 million were bonus coupons. This was a bonus average of $12.93 per person.

In 626 Midwest projects, around 1.6 million persons were in the program during May. Total value of coupons was nearly $37 million of which 56 percent was in bonus coupons. The regional bonus average was $13.14 per person.

By participating in the Food Stamp Program, low-income families can buy more food by exchanging the amount of money they normally spend on food for coupons worth more than they paid.

Recipients spend coupons just like cash, at authorized retail food stores, for any domestic food. They cannot purchase items like household cleansers, tobacco or liquor with the coupons.

Doyle urges families not getting enough food to look into the program by contacting the local welfare office.

Fire Extinguished

The Antioch Fire Department Monday night contained a fire in the storage room off the stage of the auditorium in the Antioch High School so that very little damage, besides water, was done.

The sprinkler system at the school had the blaze pretty well under control when firemen arrived. The area was immediately cleaned up.

Fire authorities are checking to determine the cause of the blaze.

New Language Of Business

Do You Know The 10 Basic Words?

The language spoken every day in the business world is one that even businessmen do not understand clearly. The reason is the computer and the growing influence of electronic data processing on the American scene.

If you think you understand today's business language, here is a test prepared by the International Accountants Society of Chicago, using 10 common computer words. To businessmen, they should be as familiar as the contents of their wallet.

|---------------|-------------|
| 1. Bit        | 2. Program  |
| 3. Dump       | 4. Hardware |
| 5. Terminal   | 6. Baud     |
| 7. Run        | 8. Unpack   |
| 9. Nanosecond | 10. Routine |

According to Jay Herrett, Director of IAS' Business Electronics Division, "If an executive knows only six or less of these terms, he is in danger of becoming a computer dropout. In fact, these are basic words used every day in many companies. And they are not too far removed from the daily conversation in homes across the country," Mr. Herrett added.

"We know from the number of students enrolling in our home study course in Business Data Processing how many businessmen are beginning to realize the importance of learning to live with electronic data processing."

"The revolution in space travel has brought new words into our vocabulary," Mr. Herrett says, "and so has the computer revolution."

Here are the definitions, taken from the Concise Dictionary of EDP Terms published by IAS.

BIT — A contraction meaning a binary digit; a single hole in a punched computer tape or card. Bits comprise a character; characters comprise a word.

PROGRAM — A computer plan for the solution of a problem.

DUMP — To transfer all or part of the contents of one section of computer memory into another section.

HARDWARE — A term used to describe the mechanical, electrical, and electronic elements of a data processing system.

TERMINAL — A point in a system or communication network at which data can either enter or leave.

BAUD — A unit of signaling speed in data transmission. The speed in bauds is equal to the number of bits per second.

RUN — One performance of a program on a computer.

UNPACK — To separate diverse information which has been included into one machine item or word.

NANOSECOND — A billionth of a second. A time measurement used to measure the operating speed of a computer.

ROUTINE — A sequence of instructions which perform a definite function within a larger computer program.

How well did you do?

State 4-H Horse Owners On Increase

Illinois 4-H horse club members and leaders have helped to increase national participation in the horse program during the last several years.

Latest figures show that more than 5,600 boys and girls own or have access to one or more horses for which they assume full responsibility. This is an increase of 1,000 since 1966, according to the state 4-H office.

Nationally, enrollment has increased nearly 600 percent over the past decade with current figures at 225,000. This trend reflects the growing interest in horses and horsemanship across the nation.

There are 7 million horses in the U.S. today, which averages out to about one horse for every 30 people. By 1977, the horse population will reach 10 million, according to authorities, when 82 million people are expected to ride a horse at least once a year.

Among Rock Island county horse club members is Lori Ferrari, whose horse Julie has already won an array of ribbons and trophies. The part Arabian Quarter horse recently presented Lori with a foal, sired by an Arabian stallion of the Hewitt stables. So now Lori will be busier than ever taking care of the new colt.

This is the time of year 4-H horse club members get ready for county and state fairs and other events where they have a chance to show off horsemanship and horses.

"I've got to get Julie clean for the show," says 4-H'er Lori Ferrari. This scene is repeated many times as 4-H horse club members spruce up their mounts for the show ring or just a ride along the trail. Lori is one of the 7 million horse owners throughout the U.S.

Merck & Co., Inc., national sponsor of the 4-H horse project, offers county, state and national awards for best all-around achievement records as judged by the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Illinois.

County medal winners compete for the state award which is a trip to the National 4-H Congress. The 1970 state winner is then eligible for one of six $600 scholarships presented during the congress.

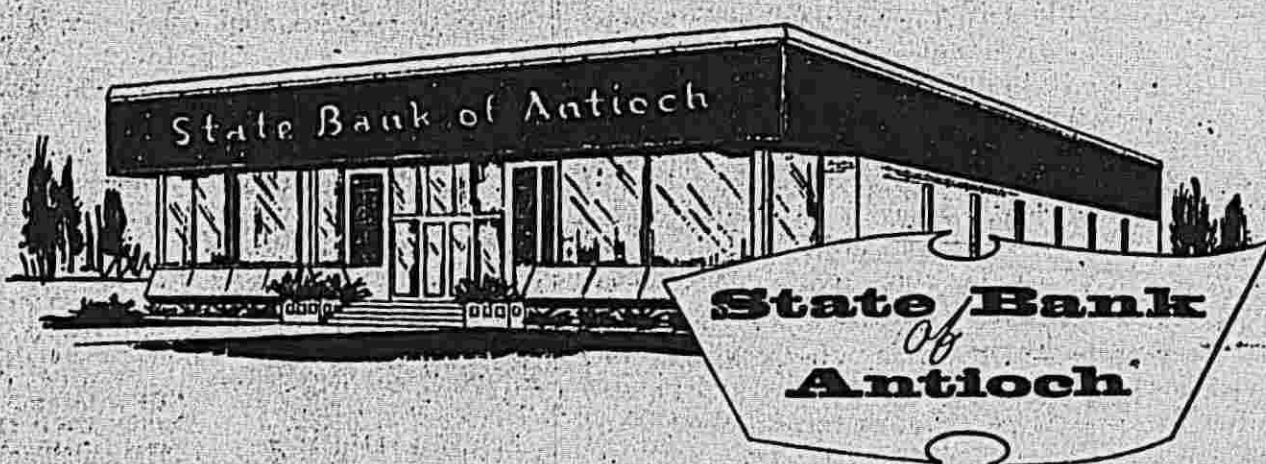

The young horse enthusiasts range in age from 9 to 19. They have a lot of fun, learn how to take care of a horse, enjoy friendly competition and usually involve the whole family in their activities. Last year's state award winner was Joyce Faggetti of Newton, whose Quarter horse won grand champion at the Jasper County Fair four straight years. Illinois produced a national scholarship winner in 1968, Sharon Ray, of Berwick, Warren county. She applied her scholarship at Western Illinois University at Macomb.

Little League Action

The Gray Division beat the White Division 5-3 in the annual Little League All-Star game played Sunday, July 19.

In one of the most exciting games in recent years, Mitch Witt's 2-run homer in the bottom of the 5th inning provided the margin of victory. Don Selzer's strong relief pitching preserved the win. The White Division was paced by Terry Romane's several sparkling defensive plays and the pitching of Tim Shepard and Jon Bodin.

In the second game, the Antioch Village Board Members and Employees edged the Little League Managers and Coaches 6-5 in a rain abbreviated game. Scotty Lowe, despite a cast on his leg, hit a 2-run homer for the Village and tagged out the tying run at the plate in the 6th inning.

Joe Norwood led the Little League Managers with a 2-run homer.

Herb Ellis and Bruce Volling turned in some defensive gems to keep the game close. George Boyd pitched for the winners and lefty Tom Poulos absorbed the loss. Special praise goes to umpires Ellen Kessler and Marie Voss for keeping the game in hand.

A great time was had by all especially the Little League players who couldn't resist the chance to offer some choice bits of advice to their team managers for a change.

Wrestling Show Is Planned

Promoter Bob Luce announced today he has negotiated the lease of White Sox Park for a pro wrestling show August 14th. It will be the first held there since July 27, 1962.

Headlining the 9-bout card will be a WIRE CAGE tag team title match between A.W.A. tag champions Mad Dog and Butcher Vachin against former world tag titleholders Dick the Bruiser and The Crusher. It will be the first pro-mat title match of any type ever sanctioned in a WIRE CAGE, and the first such bout ever held in Illinois.

The WIRE CAGE consists of four 9-foot high heavy duty cyclone fence sections bolted to the ring posts to enclose the wrestling mat. Contestants enter the CAGE through a special door which is then locked.

According to WIRE CAGE rules, the four wrestlers will be locked in the enclosure at the same time.

Modifieds To Run In Feature Race

The Interstate Racing Association of modified and sportsman stock cars will wind up the season's biggest month with a 50-lap July Championship race for the modifieds at the Wilmet track July 25. Favored to win will be IRA point leader at all four of the IRA tracks, Whitey Harris of Lake Villa.

The July action will be concluded for the IRA Supers of the Seventies at the Lake Geneva Raceway on Sunday night July 26 and that night of action will be followed by a racing movie party open to the public. Shown will be one of the newest films from the STP library covering racing action on four fronts.

In August, the IRA Supers will be in action in their only scheduled double date at the Kenosha County Speedway when they race on Friday night August 14 in a special Teen's Night Championship. All teen-agers from 13 to 19 will be admitted free. The following night, Saturday, August 15, will be the 50 lap Kenosha County Fair Championship Commemorating the 50th Anniversary of the Kenosha Fair in Wilmet.

Last years winner of the Fair night races was Ron Bergsma and could be a strong contender for repeat honors. He has one IRA feature race win this year and has been in the top three five other times. Bergsma drives a Plymouth Hemi powered from the Richmond Motors sales in Richmond, Illinois.

55 Hopefuls To Vie For Rifles

About 55 hopefuls will don pads Saturday, July 25th, at Carmel High School field as the 1970 version of the Lake County Rifles conduct their sixth annual intrasquad game. Coach Gene Cichowski must reduce his squad to forty players prior to the Racine exhibition game the following week.

Approximately 25 veterans have been laboring through the summer training sessions trying to hold down a spot with the team. With 30 rookies breathing down their necks for similar status, some vets will undoubtedly go by the wayside.

The Rifle organization received a blow this week when they learned that their outstanding fullback Bill Bodle is definitely out for the coming season. Bodle suffered a knee injury last year and was sidelined for the remainder of the '69 campaign. His appearance in camp this year gave rise to new hopes that he would indeed be the Bill Bodle of 1968. His knee, however, did not respond to treatment and he will have to undergo an operation in October. Bodle would be a loss to any football team, he led the Central States League in rushing for three consecutive years and was also named the league's MVP in '68. If Bill Bodle wasn't the best football player in the CSFL, he was certainly one of them.

Fortunately for the Lake Counties they are blessed with an unusual number of running backs. With Larry Ferguson of Iowa, and Karl Maio of St. Joseph's College, Indiana, battling it out for the fullback slot and six additional running backs trying to nail down the other halfback position, the Rifles can still boast a most potent ground attack.

Quarterback Fred Custardo is in Army Reserve training in Alaska and will probably miss the intra-squad contest. This will give Rifle coaches an ample opportunity to look at Bob Carress, a new aspirant for field generalship of the Rifles.

Carress will have a bountiful crop of receivers to throw to. Newest among these is Jerry Sandberg of Antioch. Sandberg played at Northern Illinois University and was a former teammate of Carress at Rockford. Returning veterans Bill Potter and John McGuire will be other targets for the latest Rifle quarterback.

With the exception of Sam Talano the offensive line remains intact. Returnees Lee Wahlgren, Ron Kirsch, Curt Sriver and Ryan Strong will be aided by one of the most promising rookies in camp, guard Carl Heinichen of Purdue. The 225 pound Heinichen is almost certain to garner a starting assignment with the Club. His aggressive play is reminiscent of former Rifle great Al Sonnenberg of the Los Angeles Rams.

Defensively the club could have some question marks. Up front they are anchored by Joe Wolfe and Terry Stanger. Bob Anacker is injured and could be out indefinitely but the club will get help from tackle Jim Washington of Morgan State, Maryland. Seven other rookies will be seeking a post on the defensive line.

Linebackers will be no problem to Coach Cichowski. All-league Don Rowden has ended his hold-out and signed for the '70 season.

Antioch Swim Team Third At Old Willow

The Antioch Swim team scored 172 points to gain a third place tie with Old Willow of Glenview in the North Suburban Conference Relays held Saturday, July 11, at Palatine. The meet was won by the Lake Forest Club with second going to Tennaqua of Deerfield. Brentwood of Waukegan took fifth place honors while sixth place went to the host team, Plum Grove.

After trailing through the freestyle events, Antioch came on strong in the backstroke, breaststroke, and butterfly events to finish in a third place tie.

The 13 and 14 year old boys led the attack with firsts in backstroke and breaststroke. Representing Antioch in the backstroke relay were Ed and Dave Berry, Pat Muro, and Mark Hinterberg. The breaststroke relay was won by Bob Dodd, Kevin Walpole, Frank Abderholden, and Ed Berry. Along with their firsts the freestyle relay with Bob Dodd, Kevin Walpole, Frank Abderholden, and Pat Muro scored a third.

Garnering two second places were the 10 and under girls. Sisters Lisa and Heidi Stanczak, Kate Hollenhorst, and Mary Ann Mutaw teamed up in the backstroke relay while the breaststroke relay was swum by Kate Hollenhorst, Lisa Stanczak, Denise Shepard, and Carol Berry.

Mark Haley, Pat Houghton, Tim Waite, and Dave Hinterberg scored a third in 12 and under backstroke. Also scoring for the

With vets Joe Smith, Bob Cook and Fred McGlothlin returning, this could be the club's strongest forte defensively.

The defensive backfield has been given a substantial boost by former Chicago Owl Pat Owens, coupled with Jim Scully, LaVern Pottinger and Ken Kratz the club should be adequate in the secondary. Cornerback Dick Wolf is another member of the walking wounded but can be expected to add his presence in a few weeks.

The intra-squad contest is a controlled scrimmage scheduled to get underway at 5 p.m., this Saturday. There is no charge of admission and the public is welcome to come out and watch the local CSFL entry prepare for its first exhibition game next week with Racine.

Franchises Added To Continental

The Continental Basketball Association will add two franchises for the 1970-71 season, according to information released by Jack Nagle, league Commissioner.

Nagle announced that the Milwaukee Reindeer and the Northwest Travelers will join the Peoria Chiefs, Decatur Bullets, Rockford Royals, Waukegan Wizards, Waukegan Mads and Grand Rapids Tackers to form an eight team league.

Northern division teams include Waukegan and Grand Rapids; the Southern division includes Northwest, Decatur, Peoria and Rockford.

The Reindeer will serve as the player development club of the Milwaukee Bucks of the N.B.A. Its roster will include certain players under contract to the Bucks. The Reindeer will play a portion of their C.B.A. schedule as doubleheaders in conjunction with the Bucks regularly scheduled N. B. A. games in the Milwaukee Arena. In addition, the Reindeer will play regularly scheduled C. B. A. contests in other cities of the state.

The Travelers will operate in the northwest suburbs of Chicago: Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Des Plaines, Palatine, etc.

Asked to comment on the future of the C. B. A., Nagle said: "The C. B. A. survived a first year which had some frustrations. However, all six of the original clubs are 'GO' for the 1970-71 season, full of optimism and bolstered with experience. With the addition of the new franchises, the C. B. A. has taken a great leap forward toward bona fide professional status. The decision of the Milwaukee Bucks to sponsor the Reindeer is, I believe, a forerunner of similar practices by other N. B. A. clubs. With the abundance of basketball talent throughout the country today, the best way to develop this potential to its fullest is through the use of player development clubs directly affiliated with the parent organization."

The New York Knicks and the Chicago Bulls of the N. B. A. have also shown interest in similar plans. In my opinion, the Milwaukee Bucks have scored a first in this field, a practice which I am confident will be copied extensively by other professional clubs.

"Should the N. B. A. merge with the A. B. A. the Continental Basketball Association will emerge as the first line player development league."

"Speaking for the entire C.B.A. we are greatly complimented to be regarded so highly in the field of professional basketball."

C. B. A. schedules have been drawn up and will be released shortly.

A Political Issue

For several years, the protracted "strike" of table grape workers against grape growers in California has periodically been highlighted in the news. The public has been urged to support a boycott of California table grapes. The true facts of the whole sad story strip away the misleading appearance of a righteous cause carried forward against odds in the grape fields.

The grape boycott is a political, rather than an economic, issue through which consumers have been deprived of the right of free choice in the marketplace and a number of grape growers forced into bankruptcy.

Moreover, calling the action in the grape fields a "strike" is a misnomer. Very few workers have rallied to the cause - perhaps only 2 per cent of the total work force. During the years of the "strike", table grapes have continued to be picked. The provisions of those contracts that some of the grape growers have signed with the organizers are chilling - contracts that incidentally were not submitted to a vote of the "grape pickers." Among other things, a closed shop is imposed, no provision is made for elections of worker determination of any kind, and no one can be discharged for incompetence. One clause requires continuation of the union contract as a condition of selling, leasing or transferring the owner's property. There is much more in a similar restrictive vein.

The threat to agriculture and to the future of food and fiber production, posed by the pressures exerted against California table grape growers, is beyond calculation. In recognition of the threat, a spokesman for the American Farm Bureau Federation declares, "We will work towards legislation that will protect farmers against political boycotts and strikes at harvest time; and that will protect farm workers in the selection or rejection of union representation in federally-supervised secret ballot elections." It is time that millions of consumers knew the facts about the California table grape "strike."

Progress

Why did the world wait until Benjamin Franklin's day to discover the identity of lightning and electricity?

The answer is that every age has made its particular contributions to the progress of mankind, and none of the modern-day achievements would be possible were it not for the work of former ages.

Knowledge is cumulative; it compounds itself like interest. Progress is in geometric progression because the great men of each new century are able to draw upon the painstaking labor of the men of all preceding centuries. -William Feather

Medical Service Aids Physicians In Diagnosing Rare Birth Defects

"Every week physicians around the country write to us for help in diagnosing rare and unfamiliar birth defects," says Dr. Murray Feingold, co-director of the Syndrome Identification and Consultation Service at Boston Floating Hospital for Infants and Children. This unique service was established last January to facilitate such requests.

Dr. Feingold and Dr. Sydney S. Gellis, co-directors of the Service, are distinguished pediatricians and editors of a monthly feature on pediatric abnormalities which appears in the "American Journal of Diseases of Children."

Dr. Feingold, assistant professor of pediatrics, Tufts University, also is chief of ambulatory services and director of the March of Dimes Birth Defects Center at the Hospital. Dr. Gellis, professor and chairman of the pediatric department at Tufts, is hospital pediatrician-in-chief.

Both were concerned with the urgent need for a central source of information about unusual congenital malformations and genetic abnormalities. To meet this demand, physicians without charge during its first year of operation, requests have been handled from all parts of the United States and abroad.

Doctors seeking advice submit their patient's case history, significant information about pregnancy, delivery and family background, and physical and laboratory findings. Black and white photographs of physical characteristics are included along with any appropriate X-ray films. Color slides were sought at first, but they proved less satisfactory than black and white pictures.

The material is duplicated and mailed to five other consultants in medicine, pediatrics, genetics and dentistry. Their evaluation, together with original reports and photographs, is returned to the referring physician as quickly as possible. The opinions may suggest additional testing or treatment and genetic advice to parents. When the consultants know of a specialist concerned with the particular condition, the referring physician is informed.

Consultants in the Syndrome Identification Service are: Dr. Dick Hoefnagel, assistant professor of pediatrics, Dartmouth Medical School; Dr. Victor A. McKusick, professor of medicine and chief, division of medical genetics, The Johns Hopkins University; and Dr. John M. Opitz, assistant professor of pediatrics and medical genetics, University of Wisconsin. All are associated with National Foundation-March of Dimes Birth Defects Center programs. Also on the panel are Dr. Robert J. Gorlin, division of oral pathology, University of Minnesota School of Dentistry, and Dr. David W. Smith, professor of pediatrics, University of Washington, Seattle.

According to Dr. Gellis, the results of this expanding study have far-reaching value.

Specialists Help MDs

"Some syndromes are so rare that many physicians may not have encountered the condition previously," he notes. "The Identification Service makes available the experience of a group of specialists who have an extensive interest in these disorders. For the first time we have the opportunity to gather and disseminate this kind of information."

Dr. Feingold believes that the Service has great potential. It will probably require computerization to enable retrieval and diagnosis of rare disorders of genetic origin. It should serve to assist in the elucidation of new syndromes.

Speedway Suffers Rainout

The Waukegan Speedway suffered a rare double rainout over the weekend as the weatherman failed to cooperate for either the Saturday or the Sunday night late model programs.

Saturday night's Midseason Championship races were called early as afternoon showers showed no signs of letting up. With the 50 lap race slated for Sunday, a second round of showers hit the

Soap And Soft Water

Simple Answer To Pollution By Detergents

In answer to the question, "What can a housewife do to end pollution?" Glen Pratt, Federal Water Control Administration, said, "Stop using detergents with a high phosphate concentration."

Stop Pollution!

The International Joint Commission on the Pollution of Lakes Erie, Ontario, and the St. Lawrence River, stated that detergent sources account for 70% of the phosphorus in municipal wastes in the United States, and 50% in Canada. Phosphates in laundering soaps and detergents have been implicated as water pollutants, since they stimulate the excessive growth of algae in our lakes and streams.

Culligan, through its water conditioning dealers, is now marketing a phosphate-free laundry soap for use in soft or softened water. This soap is not only phosphate free, but is also rapidly biodegradable. It breaks down naturally in three days, after disposal to waterways, as compared to about three weeks for the present-day synthetic laundry detergents. Laundering experts have long considered soap and softened water as a superior and economical cleaning combination. Thus, commercial and institutional laundries have used this combination for many years. They find that softened water provides excellent cleaning with less soap, and in addition, lengthens fabric life.

Today, it is really easy to

Stop Pollution!

have softened water for all household uses. Modern water softening appliances are compact and automatic, and can be quickly connected to the household water supply to provide completely softened water wherever desired.

Stop Pollution!

By using softened water and Culligan phosphate-free soap, every family can join in the fight against pollution and, at the same time, enjoy the many ways in which high quality water contributes to better living. In fact, it is one contribution to their community and nation which can be a real pleasure.

Phosphate-free laundry soap is as near as your Culligan Man.
